

RESET VERSUS COMPOUND

Campaign or campaign engine?

Both create activity. Only one leaves the organisation stronger after the launch.

02 / 8

Campaign / Starts from a brief

A new document, new assumptions and a new scramble for context every cycle.

03 / 8

Engine / Starts from accumulated learning

Audience evidence, approved positioning, previous performance and reusable components are already available.

04 / 8

Campaign / Relies on coordination

People chase assets, translate decisions and manually route each handoff.

05 / 8

Engine / Encodes the workflow

Clear triggers, ownership, authority boundaries and reusable production paths
keep work moving.

06 / 8

Campaign / Output disappears

The launch ends and the operating knowledge
disperses back into folders, inboxes and memory.

07 / 8

Engine / Capability compounds

Each cycle improves the playbook, evidence base, asset library and decision quality.

08 / 8

The test is simple

Did this campaign merely perform, or did it make the next campaign easier and better?
